

We have an approved opening for a Chemist / microbiologist focused on antimicrobial technology and general chemistry. We believe the ideal candidate will be an entry level PhD microbiologist or Chemist. See below a broad position description.

Senior Scientist

Individual contributor with focus on global innovation for antimicrobial / disinfecting chemistry to support ongoing and new projects

The individual in this position demonstrates a strong knowledge foundation in the basic principles and applications in their area of expertise. Person applies a working knowledge of related disciplines, works on a wide range of problems and uses critical thinking to achieve solutions. Person gains recognition from peers in a selected technical field. Plans and performs laboratory assignments and customer trials, tests and assembles experimental apparatus, operates various machines and testing equipment in evaluation of products. Records experimental data, makes calculations and prepares reports covering work. Individual contributes to the design of technical projects and program proposals. Person communicates regularly on progress of, and requirements to complete assigned work with manager, project teams and suppliers. Designs and conducts experimentation using required equipment and instrumentation. Leads assigned project tasks while collaborating with support staff. Works & plans with close supervision. Position may supervise laboratory work of contractors and technicians.

Minimum Professional Education & Experience Guidelines:

MS entry level; BS+2 yrs. experience. Prefer PhD entry level.

www.diverse.com

901 Renaissance Blvd
Sturtevant, WI 53177

Interested individuals should contact Diversey directly
Email: Clive.Burrell@Diversey.com